Joy Test Report

Personalized for Aaron Test
March 20, 2026 at 8:54 am

Thank you for completing the Joy Test. This report is based on your answers and draws from research on joy in Christian lives (including the Life Model framework). We pray that as you review it, you will be spurred on in your pursuit of joy with God and others.

Joy Test Scoring Summary

Overall Joy Index: 61% — Moderate Joy

Joy with God: 64% — Moderate Joy
Joy with Others: 60% — Moderate Joy
Relational Needs: 58% — Low
Spiritual Formation: 63% — Moderate

Most Needed Relational Needs

Based on your responses, these two areas may need the most attention right now:

- Affection: You need expressions of warmth, closeness, and care (words, touch, presence) to feel loved.
- Trust: You need to feel confident that others have your best interests at heart.

Table of Contents

- Joy Elements
- Overall Joy Index
- Joy with God
- Joy with Others
- Relational Needs
- Spiritual Formation
- Growth Suggestions
- Next Steps

Joy Elements

Building and maintaining joy is influenced by five key factors. We set the "joy bar" high, aiming to live our lives from the heart of Jesus. True Christian joy is of a unique type. Such joy expresses and reflects God's love, regardless of external environment or circumstances. Using the acronym R.A.R.E., we can remember that a joyous life is indicated when we can consistently:

- Remain relational, despite what is going on around you.
- Act like yourself and continue to be authentic.
- Return to joy after disappointment, heartache, anger or other joy-stealers.
- Endure hardship well.

Joy is based on five important elements that include:

1. Your understanding of Christian joy.
2. The degree to which you experience God's love for you and others.
3. Your ability to foster joyful connections with others.
4. Your consistency in expressing joy in both word and deed.
5. Your current circumstances, including your home, work, and social environments.

Key Terms & Concepts

- R.A.R.E. Habits: Four practices for joyful living: Remain Relational, Act Like Yourself, Return to Joy, Endure Hardship Well.
- Joy Capacity: Your ability to sustain joy under stress, built through relationships and practices.
- Relational Needs: Emotional requirements like Security and Encouragement; unmet needs limit joy.
- Joy Elements: Five factors: Understanding Christian joy, Experiencing God's love, Fostering connections, Expressing joy, Current environment.
- Spiritual Transformation Inventory (STI): A validated 33-scale tool measuring spiritual formation across five domains. Provides personalized insights into maturity, attachment, joy capacity, and transformation pathways (available in full assessment).
- Return to Joy: The single most powerful skill for building joy resilience: recovering relational connection and positive emotion after disappointment or stress.

Overall Joy Index: 61% — Moderate Joy

Joy with God: 64% — Moderate Joy

Joy with Others: 60% — Moderate Joy

Relational Needs: 58% — Low

Your results show that several relational needs are significantly unmet, which is likely contributing to lower joy overall. The two relational needs you most long for at this time are Affection and Trust. These are signals your heart is longing for safer connection—addressing them (even slowly) can dramatically increase joy. Start with one trustworthy person or a supportive community.

The two relational needs that are least met (and therefore most important for you to focus on right now) are:

Most Needed (Least Met) Relational Needs

Need	Current Fulfillment (Avg Score)	Description
Affection	2 / 5	You need expressions of warmth, closeness, and care (words, touch, presence) to feel loved.
Trust	2 / 5	You need to feel confident that others have your best interests at heart.

Key Insight: These two needs have the lowest fulfillment scores among all relational needs — meaning they are currently the biggest gaps in your relationships. When these are unmet, it directly lowers your joy levels (especially in Joy with Others and overall resilience). By intentionally seeking more Affection and Trust (e.g., through trusted conversations or community), you can significantly increase your joy capacity.

Suggested Actions:

- Ask a trusted friend or mentor once this week: "Could you encourage me in something I'm working on?" or "I need to feel more secure — can we talk about how we're doing?"
- Join a small group or community where encouragement and dependability are prioritized.

Spiritual Formation: 63% — Moderate

Growth Suggestions

- Daily: Write down 3 gratitudes every evening to cultivate daily joy.
- Weekly: Intentionally plan one joyful activity with others, such as a meal or walk.
- Relational: Ask for encouragement directly from someone you trust once this week.
- Spiritual: Dedicate 10 minutes daily to prayer and Scripture reflection to reinforce joy with God.

Next Steps for Deeper Growth

Explore these resources from our trusted partners:

Life Model Works: lifemodelworks.org – Books, trainings, and community.

Deeper Walk International: deeperwalk.com – Trauma-informed freedom and maturity.

RARE Leadership: Read RARE Leadership by Marcus Warner & Jim Wilder.

Join the Joy Restart Community for Your Next Step in Joy and Transformation

By joining today, you connect with a supportive network pursuing deeper joy in Christ. As a member, you'll receive:

- Free access to the Full Joy & Transformation Assessment (176 questions) – Gain a much more detailed picture of your joy journey, including deeper insights into relational needs, spiritual formation, and transformation pathways.
- Monthly Webinars – Join live sessions with expert teaching, Q&A, and community discussion on topics like returning to joy, R.A.R.E. leadership, healing attachment wounds, and living from the heart Jesus gave you.
- Joy and Transformation Course – Access structured, step-by-step learning materials designed to build joy habits, strengthen relationships, and grow in spiritual maturity at your own pace.
- One-on-One Joy Coaching + comprehensive Spiritual Transformation Inventory – Receive personalized one-hour coaching at a low introductory fee, plus a detailed Spiritual Transformation Inventory that provides even more insights into your maturity, attachment patterns, and joy capacity to help you plan meaningful next steps.

This community is a place to connect, encourage one another, and experience joy in relationship. Many members find that combining the full assessment, ongoing webinars, course content, and personalized coaching accelerates real, lasting change.

Ready to go deeper?

Join the Joy Restart Community Now

Get started today and take the next joyful step God is inviting you into.